Kingston Jewry Protests Against Massacres of Jews

Committee Appointed to Solicit Funds for Palestine Relief—Dr. Seeley, Rabbi Bialek and Rabbi Rose Address Enthusiastic Gathering at Community Center.

In protest against the massacres of Jews in Palestine, the failure of the British Empire to carry out its promise to protect Jewish interests in the Holy Land and in hopes of obtaining funds for immediate relief of those suffering at the hands of the Arabs, all of which was forcefully presented, a small but enthusiastic Jewish audience met at the Jewish Community Center, Broadway near Spring street, Wednesday night to hear the Rev. Dr. F. B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair street Reformed Church, Rabbi Bialek of Poughkeepsie and Rabbi Morris Rose of Temple Emanuel. The speakers were introduced by Arthur B. Ewig, who was in charge of the meeting.

A committee consisting of Louis Kaplan, Morris Kaplan, Abram Handler, Benjamin Suskind, Benjamin Silverman, Rabbi Koplovitz and Rabbi Miller was appointed to solicit funds for Palestine relief.

Talking from the standpoint of a Christian, Dr. Seeley stated that the entire civilized world was interested in the situation in the Holy Land and that the sympathy of all nations was extended to the suffering. He recalled a similar situation some years ago when the Jews were being persecuted in Russia.

No real cause for the present situation has been given, Dr. Seeley said, but he laid the trouble to the failure of a promise. Between the famous Moslem shrine and Solomon's temple in Jerusalem a wall was to have been constructed. Because this wall was never built, and because the Arabs watched with growing hatred the increasing influence of the Jews in the Holy Land, Moslem fanatics decided to take the situation in hand. The result placed a land of high ideals and culture in the hands of a people who were incensed against the nation that created the heritage of Palestine.

Declaring that the Jews formed the loneliest nation on the face of the earth, and that persecution had been their lot for more than 3,000 years, the speaker pointed out that though the race had been scattered to the four winds the common things of the nation had been preserved through the years. The Jews were a remarkable people to have been able to keep this unity of ideals, customs and character in the face of overwhelming odds, Dr. Seeley said.

Letter From The Mayor.

At the conclusion of his address, a letter from Mayor Dempsey was read. The mayor expressed his regrets at not being able to attend the meeting, but offered to support any resolution for Jewish relief.

Rabbi Bialek, who spoke in the Jewish language, painted a picture of Jewish history in which he emphasized the hardships of the race. He showed that since the World War the Jews had been given a place to establish themselves and that a good beginning had been made.

In this picture of hope he placed a smudge, the failure of England to keep a promise and a trust, a promise to protect Jewish rights and a trust given England by the League of Nations. Acts of horror had been perpetrated, he said, acts which wrung the blood from the hearts of all Jews and caused a world-wide protest of all nations. Parents of Jewish children had been killed, leaving the little ones orphans. Jewish girls had been maltreated and Jewish homes had been sacked, all because of jealousy which arose when Jews entered a country given them.

Rabbi Bialek call upon all Jews to come to the aid of their nation both with funds and with cry against the acts committed against a peace-loving people.

Rabbi Rose's Farewell Speech.

"All of the money that you might give for this cause could not make up the loss inflicted upon our people. Money can only help the present situation. It is for you with others like you to raise your voices in protest against this affair, to make your voices heard across the seas, to demand from the Arabs some form of retribution, to demand it so strongly that the price of this slaughter must be paid," Rabbi Morris M. Rose of Temple Emanuel, stated in his farewell speech which he declared was distasteful but which had to be made.

"It would hurt to have our people suffer in any land, but the tragedy is the greater when it happens in our home land, the seat of our culture and our heritage," he said.

Rabbi Rose placed the origin of the trouble in English politics. He declared that the changing governments had been unfortunate to Jewish hopes. England had promised to look after the interests of the Jew and had forgotten her promise.

After the World War, the then newly formed League of Nations had granted to many countries the right of their inhabitants to choose for themselves what form of government they would have. The Jews were given Palestine, but because of the small number of that race in the Holy Land it was decided to have England establish a mandate over the country until a sufficient number of Jews came to rule the land. As soon as the number was large enough so that the country could be ruled by a majority of Jews it would be turned over to them, but until that time a governor was to be appointed by England. The first governor appointed by England was Herbert Samuel, who was well liked by Arab and Jew.

However, the changing governments in England had brought changes in governors, until the interests of the Jew in his own land were subjected to the wishes of the Arabs. The climax came when the Arabs arose in the absence of proper authority and killed Jews, who were at the time without police protection. It was a race war and not a political struggle, concluded Rabbi Rose.

The meeting concluded with the offering of prayer for the dead by Rabbi Koplovits.

Ellenville Jewry Raise $2,000 for Palestine Relief

Ellenville Jewry responded to the call of David A. Brown, national chairman of the Palestine Relief Committee, and Bernard G. Given, state chairman. Upon receipt of telegrams from these officials, Herman J. Levine issued an invitation to the various Jewish organizations in Ellenville for a meeting which was held Friday, August 30, at the Talmud Torah. A skeleton organization was formed with Herman J. Levine as chairman, Albert Balotin, vice president, L. N. Zipperman, secretary and Mrs. B. Shuiman, treasurer.

The boarding houses were divided into sections with the following workers:

Morris Glusker.
Sam Herskowitz.
Mrs. B. Shulman.

British Inspectors Released.

Harbin, Manchuria, Sept. 5 (AP).—Two British insurance inspectors here, who were kidnaped by Manchurian bandits August 22, have been released and are en route to Harbin. A third member of the party managed to escape recently.

Rain an Acute Need Throughout Eastern States

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Rain to fill reservoirs, extinguish forest fires and cool blistering city streets was an acute need throughout eastern states today.

Four days of unprecedented heat, which set new temperature records for September, aggravated the water shortage and multiplied the difficulties of forest fire fighters.

The highest temperature reported yesterday was at Springfield, Mass., where the mercury reached 99.78 degrees. Other parts of New England, however, enjoyed relief from the record-breaking temperatures of Tuesday.

In New York city the mercury went to 94 for the second consecutive day. One death and numerous prostrations occurred. Outlying districts suffered a water shortage.

The heat continued unabated in New York state and Pennsylvaia with temperatures as high as 96 at Albany and 92 at Philadelphia.

The prolonged drought which has crippled power plants and threatened municipal supplies in many parts of New England, New York, Pennsylvania and through the middle west brought the forest fire menace to alarming proportions.

Fires at North Adams and Williamstown, Mass., and in Vermont were not brought under control until they had threatened nearby power lines and communities.

With flames eating through the woods near Hornell and in other parts of New York state, Conservation Commission officials issued a warning that the fire hazard was the worst in twenty years.

Forests in Pennsylvania were ablaze in several hundred places, the flames being nearly uncontrollable because of the dry condition of the woods. Rainfall in the state has been six inches under normal for the last three months. Some communities in the state faced a water famine.

Heavy crop losses to the farmers of Central Ontario are in prospect as a consequence of the drought, John A. Carroll, director of the Bureau of Crops and Markets, said. In some sections of the province there has been no appreciable rainfall since May 18.

Call for Revolt In Holy Land

Jerusalem, Sept. 5 (AP).—Moslem Arabs throughout the Holy Land and the bordering states are being called upon by highly inflammatory propaganda to revolt and move against the government of Palestine.

Floods of this propaganda material were said here today to have emanated from Jaffa, Haifa, Egypt, Damascus, Beirut and Aleppo, and have been instrumental in the smouldering of renewed discontent which some regard as portentious.

One of the proclamations in circulation among the Arabs heralded a "Fighters' Holy War" and called upon all Arabs to help Arab insurgents in Palestine, whose condition was described in the blackest terms.

Although Jerusalem was quiet today British troops continued their incessant clashes with bands of tribesmen who have penetrated the Palestine borders. One automobile which yesterday attempted to cross Allenby bridge from Transjordania to Palestine was found to contain 14 rifles and 1,000 rounds of ammunition.

British military authorities immediately dispatched armored cars into Amman in an attempt to cut off the Palestine Arabs' source of arms and ammunition at its source.

Reports persisted despite official denial that skirmishes with Bedouins have occurred near Beersheba in which six native Christians have been killed.

Jews, who hailed the first proclamation of the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, as aiding and abetting their cause, were not so joyful today over a second proclamation by the high commissioner, which announced constitution of special courts presided over by British judges to try criminal cases among both Jews and Arabs growing out of the recent disturbances.

The new proclamation said: "Since crimes of various descriptions are known to have been perpetrated by both Arabs and Jews all offenders, without distinction of race or creed will be brought to trial before courts set up under an ordinance enacted yesterday."

RAIN ENDS FOREST FIRES IN WISCONSIN

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 5 (AP).—A pelting rain sounded the requiem today for the two score forest fires in Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan.

As it fell, drenching woods dried by three weeks of hot weather, wardens in charge of fire fighting operations declared the situation was well under control except in one isolated spot.

Miners Trapped in Copper Mine.

Stockton, Cal., Sept. 5 (AP).—The fate of four miners trapped in a cavein on the 1,550-foot level of the Copperopolis mine of the Calaveras Copper Company was sealed behind tons of rock today while the crew of fellow workers labored valiantly to reach them.

Three New Fires In the Catskills And Adirondacks

Albany, Sept. 5 (AP).—Reports of three new but small forest fires in the Adirondack and Catskill Mountains were received by the Conservation Department here today. The reports arrived simultaneously with the beginning of what promised to be a steady rain in this area. The weather bureau forecast showers for the forested districts.

Fire reports today gave accounts of new blazes at Westport, Essex county, Eighth Lake, Herkimer county, and Hague, Warren county.

The Conservation Department said all fires in the Adirondacks and Catskills were under control, although but few of the fires recently reported were out. The fire at St. Regis Falls, St. Lawrence county, had been held to 20 acres of slash, although more than 100 cords of pulpwood were destroyed. A similar fire at Putnam, Washington county, was under the watchful eye of fire wardens after burning over 15 acres.

Thirteen fires were reported outside the mountain districts including an obstinate blaze near Fishkill. Five small fires in Suffolk county, two in the vicinity of King's Park, two at Port Jefferson and one near North Shore Beach.

A blaze at Sanitary Springs, Broome county, and others near Hornell, Salamanca and Allegany were under control.

Says League Has Confidence Of All Peoples

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 5 (AP).—Admittedly one of the world's greatest apostles of peace and Europe's most brilliant orator, Premier Aristide Briand of France today received an ovation for a remarkable eulogy of the League of Nations before its tenth assembly session.

"The league has vanquished irony and criticism. It has the confidence of all peoples and it is a great moral force," he declared.

M. Briand said the league had waged a tremendous campaign against war and had been able to do so because it has prepared a propitious atmosphere.

He insisted that the pact signed in Paris last year was really framed from the ideals of the league and announced that he had deposited a text of it with the league for registration.

The French Premier, however, saw the necessity for further measures to assure consolidation of the progress made toward peace.

He declared his own conviction that the League of Nations could at least punish that nation which dared to infringe the Paris pact, which is now deposited in Geneva and is to have the protection of the league.

His remarks on the league and the pact were punctuated throughout by tumultuous applause.

Referring to Premier Ramsay MacDonald's remarks about Great Britain's naval conversations with the United States from the rostrum of the assembly Premier Briand recalled that the league covenant required the nations to reduce their armaments as a sacred obligation.

He had a firm hope that the Anglo-American naval conversations would succeed and that the disarmament commission of the league could convoke a conference.

There was, however, another kind of necessary disarmament, Premier Briand warned his hearers, and that was economic disarmament. He believed this problem must be taken out of the domain of technicalities and handled from a political standpoint.

Getting down to what has been called the project of a "United States of Europe," M. Briand said that this idea had been qualified as a dream, but he was convinced that there should be closer ties between the nations of Europe and he wanted to bring this new regime of unity into being.

He did not divulge any concrete plan for accomplishing this great idea but he appealed to all delegates to bring it to the attention of their governments and to have it studied.

Hoover Plans No General Appeal

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP).—Associates of President Hoover say he plans no general appeal to the public for funds with which to build and equip a schoolhouse for children living in the mountains in the region of his fishing camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia.

Instead, the Chief Executive proposes to supply the $1,200 or $1,500 needed from his personal funds, or with the help of a small circle of intimate friends.

When the President's interest in these neglected mountain folk was revealed several days ago Mr. Hoover was quoted as having expressed a willingness to head a National committee to raise the school funds. It was generally supposed then that the public would be asked to contribute.

It was reported today that Virginia state authorities had promised their cooperation, at least to the extent of supplying a teacher.

U. S. Engineers Ordered to Survey Nicaragua Canal

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP).—A picked engineering battalion, totaling 400 officers and men, today was ordered by Secretary Good to duty in the Central American jungle to survey the route of the proposed $1,000,000,000 Nicaraguan Canal.

Largely on the report of these engineers will depend the decision of the American government as to whether it shall undertake the stupendous task of constructing a canal stretching 183 miles through tropical mountains and forests from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. Government engineers estimate it would require ten years to complete the project, when would give the United States, with the Panama Canal, two of the most important waterways in the world.

Selected from the best of the army's engineering forces, units that go to make up the battalion are being outfitted to remain in the jungle region for two years, the estimated time needed for the work.

The survey was approved by Congress last spring when it was brought to its attention that the Panama Canal with its present facilities probably would be overburdened soon if the annual tonnage continued to increase. The commercial tonnage that passed through the canal in 1928, exclusive of government vessels, amounted to 29,000,000 tons. The capacity is not greatly in excess of 30,000,000.

The engineers will be compelled to combat for 43 miles the waters of the San Juan river from Greytown on the Atlantic to Lake Nicaragua. The route then will take them 70 miles across Lake Nicaragua to the Cordillera mountain range that forms the divide of the eastern and western slopes. Through this mountain range for 70 miles they must carry transit, rod and chain.

Since 1902 the United States has held on to the right to develop a Nicaraguan canal, which was conceived as early as 1826. In 1916 a treaty was negotiated between Nicaragua and the United States giving the latter a long time option on the route for $3,000,000.

Costa Rica, Salvador and Honduras stoutly objected to the treaty's ratification, claiming it infringed their rights.

Albert B. Fall's Trial October 7

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP).—Scores of witnesses, some whose names were household words long before the tempest began to blow over the Teapot Dome, and some whom the oil scandals have brought to public attention, are being summoned by the United States for the trial of former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall.

The name of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty is among the first in the list of persons subpoenaed to appear October 7, the day Fall is to go to trial on a charge of accepting a bribe as Secretary of Interior.

It is reported that Frank Hogan, who was successful in the defense of Edward L. Doheny, is to appear as counsel for Fall.

Articles as well known as the witnesses have been ordered produced at the trial—among them the $100,000 check on the First National Bank of New York, made to the order of the bank and signed by Blair and Company. Clerks of the District Supreme Court look for at least a hundred witnesses.

Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, has been summoned, and so has Edward B. McLean, Publisher of the Washington Post. Whether with a touch of irony or no, a subpoena has been issued for Harry M. Blackmer, whose protracted sojourn abroad has held in abeyance his own trial on conspiracy charges in connection with the oil scandals.

SURPRISED BY GRAF ZEPPELIN'S VISIT TO SPAIN.

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 5 (AP).—King Alfonso of Spain, in a message of congratulation for the Graf Zeppelin's great flight around the world, said that he had been wholly taken by surprise by the Graf's visit to Santander, Spain, on her recent flight home.

His Majesty only received the radio from Captain Lehmann, announcing his intention to fly over the city as a tribute to the king, after the Graf had already landed safely at Friedrichshafen. He regretted he had been unable to honor the Graf's passage as he would have done had he known it earlier.

"We Will" Forced Down.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—The Chicago—"We Will", which was forced down yesterday after 291 hours and two minutes in the air, was to be flown to Paterson, N. J., today to be groomed for another possible take-off Sunday in quest of the world refueling endurance flying record. A balky magneto suddenly ended the flight.

Army Fliers Becoming Expert.

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP).—Army fliers are becoming so expert and aircraft improvements have so diminished the likelihood of accidents that the War Department has recommended against legislation to require applicants for army exhibition flights to furnish bond to insure the government against damage claims.

Mystery Shrouds Fate Of Missing Air Liner

Previously Reported Found Wrecked in New Mexican Wilds and Its Five Passengers and Three Crew Members Dead—Searchers Unable to Locate Plane—Conflicting Statements.

Los Angeles, Sept. 5 (AP).—Confusion and mystery drew a double veil today around the facts concerning the Transcontinental Air Transport's lost air liner City of San Francisco, which previously had been reported by company officials to have been found wrecked in the wilds of the New Mexico-Arizona border region and its five passengers and three crew members dead.

The inability of searchers to locate the plane, which disappeared Tuesday while on its way from Albuquerque to Los Angeles, together with alleged denials of Santa Fe Railroad agents that they had circulated reports of the wreck being found, further complicated the situation this morning.

The chief dispatcher of the Santa Fe Railroad here declared however, that the Santa Fe telegraph operator at Perea had not denied having handled reports of the supposed finding of the City of San Francisco, in the Black Rock Wash country.

Informed of these details, H. W. Beck, western traffic manager for the Transport, told the Associated Press that the official statements of his company saying the liner had been wrecked and its passengers and crew killed had been based upon information from the Santa Fe.

In the face of the conflicting statements from the various Santa Fe agents, and another from the postmaster at Gallup who denied that any of his mail carriers had reported sighting the wreck, Beck announced he would make "no change for the present in our previous official statement quoting this (the Santa Fe) report until further investigation establishes whether there is any basis for it."

Beck declared, however, that "we are beginning to doubt the authenticity of the report given us." He reiterated that the company had no definite information from its own search.

The Perea operator communicated today with Superintendent Collins of the Transcontinental Air Transport in Gallup, N. M., the Winslow dispatcher said, and reiterated that he yesterday had passed along a report, for delivery to T. A. T., officials, that the plane had been seen. The dispatcher quoted the Perea man as having told Collins that the report first was received by his wife from a driver of a school bus in the Zuni Indian Reservation. The woman, who was in Gallup, N. M., transmitted the information to her husband, the dispatcher said.

T. A. T. offices here also announced that information had come to them from Gallup that the Perea operator had reiterated his story.

Passengers Aboard Plane.

Aboard the City of San Francisco when it left Albuquerque, were:

Mrs. Corina Raymond, wife of George B. Raymond, Glendale, Cal. Raymond is a clerk in the T. A. T. offices here.

A. S. McGaffey, Albuquerque.

William Henry Beers, New York city.

Harris Livermore, Boston.

M. M. Cabpbell, Cincinnati.

Members of the crew.

J. B. Stowe, chief pilot.

E. A. Dietel, co-pilot.

C. F. Canfield, courier.

Reports that another plane carrying two men from Albuquerque to Los Angeles had crashed in the same general vicinity as that where the City of San Francisco was lost complicated the situation. Whether Indians who had reported finding airplane wreckage in that area yesterday had referred to the air liner or the plane carrying the two men could not be determined here.

Searchers Fail to Find Plane.

Two hundred searchers from Gallup, N. M., combed the Black Rock wash country but did not find the plane.

While this search was under way, complications developed to throw investigators again into a quandary with a denial by the postmaster at Gallup that any of his carriers had reported sighting the wreck and the receipt of a report from an Indian runner on the Zuni reservation of seeing a plane fall.

This story, told to the reservation superintendent, and relayed to Albuquerque, was thought possibly to have concerned a plane piloted by Earl Gordon, with Lindsay Gillis, of Los Angeles, president of the Angeles Aero Corporation, as passenger. Gillis and Gordon left Albuquerque yesterday morning, failed to arrive in Los Angeles, and were not reported as having landed at any point en route.

Sufficient Water In Reservoir to Supply New York

Dry Weather Has Taken Its Toll of Waters From Ashokan But There is Enough to Supply New York People for Some Time.

The dry weather of the past few weeks has taken its toll of waters from the Ashokan reservoir but there is still sufficient water in the Ashokan to supply New York people for some time to come. In fact the Ashokan reservoir is in a position to continue to send its daily supply of water for distribution to New York for a long period of time. At present the upper or west basin is full of water and running over the dividing weir into the lower basin from which every twenty-four hours 625,000,000 gallons of water is sent through the aqueduct.

A careful check is kept by the department of water supply on the inflow, the outflow and the height in feet of water in both basins every twenty-four hours. The figures at the present time show that there are 47 billion gallons of water in the west basin. This is the capacity of that basin and the water which flows into the upper basin is keeping that basin full and sending a quantity over the dividing weir to the lower basin. The east or lower basin, which has a capacity of about 80 billion gallons when full, now has 51 billion gallons in storage. The 30 billion gallons which have been drawn out of the lower basin from high level when the reservoir is full represents a drop of about 20 feet from the overflow at Spillway. At the present time it is impossible to even see the water from the Spillway.

The total capacity of the Ashokan basin when full is about 128 billion gallons. In both basins there are now about 98 billion gallons of water. The lowest level which the Ashokan reservoir has ever reached was in October and November of 1926, when there were but 15 billion gallons of water in the entire basin. At that time the lower basin was practically empty and it was possible to walk across the basin on high ground. In the vicinity of old West Hurley village the water had dropped, exposing the entire surrounding country.

At present the Shandaken tunnel is carrying from the Gilboa reservoir practically all of the flow of the Schoharie creek. There is practically no water stored in the Gilboa reservoir and this reservoir is being held empty in order to receive any water which may come from a sudden rain. Due to the small storage capacity of the Gilboa dam and the rapidity with which that basin fills up in case of a heavy rain the department keeps the water low in that reservoir. The only water which is flowing through the tunnel now is the natural flow of the Schoharie creek. This flow is about equal to that which is coming down the upper Esopus and substantially half the water which is flowing into the Ashokan comes from the Schoharie creek through the Shandaken tunnel to join the water of the Esopus creek.

The unusual storage capacity of the Ashokan reservoir is sufficient to take care of much of the spring rain fall and each spring there is relatively but a small quantity of water wasted by going over the Spillway. This spring the water flowed over the Spillway for a short time but the amount of waste water is negligible.

Vandals Drain Village Reservoir

Randolph, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Its water supply exhausted through the work of vandals, this Cattaraugus county village, already suffering from the protracted dry weather, was in a precarious position today. It was discovered yesterday that the floodgates at the reservoir on which the village depended for its water supply had been thrown open, draining the entire supply.

Water flowing through the creek leading from the reservoir to the village led to an investigation. The creek bed had been dry all summer.

With no water for domestic use and at the mercy of a possible fire, the position of the residents was doubly hazardous.

The pumping system, formerly used, will be put in operation, but it is expected that it will be two days before it is in working order.

Abram North has been making a number of improvements to his property on Cooper street.

Mrs. Frank Turner and children of Poughkeepsie have been spending several weeks with relatives in this vicinity.

A number of members of Tappen Camp, No. 1, Sons of Veterans, and their wives came to this village last Wednesday evening to give P. W. Wells a surprise party, he being a member of that camp. The party numbered 52 and all report a fine time. The weather conditions were OK for a lawn party. Sandwiches cake and ice cream were served. Part of the evening was spent indoors and songs and instrumental selections on the piano made the time pass quickly.

The Rev. P. S. Dunneseath, rector of St. Peter's Church, conducted services in the Episcopal Church Sunday morning at 9:30, the first service since his return from a two months' vacation.

The fine new residence of Perry A. Clark on lower Main street is nearly ready for occupancy. The house and grounds are a great improvement to that part of the village.

A number from this village attended the Poughkeepsie fair last week.

Deputy Sheriff P. W. Wells was called to Kyserike Sunday afternoon on account of an auto accident near the filling station. Fortunately no one was injured and the cars were not badly damaged.

All will be glad to know that the people who were so badly injured in this village last Sunday evening when the Cole and Atkins cars were wrecked are all on the gain, although two of the six are still in the hospital in a serious condition.

Many Stone Ridge people attended the picnic at Kripplebush Labor Day.

DeForest Bishop, wife and daughter have returned from their auto trip to Niagara Falls and Canada.

A good forgettery is rather to be chosen than a good memory.

General Exhibit At Little Gallery

(By F. G. Clough.)

At the Jones Little Gallery, opened this season at Woodstock for the purpose of fostering one-man exhibitions by some of the leading so-called "conservative" painters in the Woodstock group, there has been opened to the public this week a "General Exhibition," which has work by ten Woodstock artists.

Heading the catalog list is Paul Rohland who shows oils and lithographs; his "Road to Village" is of Woodstock, an oil painting of the little village as the artist sees it.

Occupying the center of the main wall is a painting by Orville H. Peets, titled "When You and I Were Young," and contrary to the sentimental label, showing a large portrait of Henry L. McFee, prominent modern artist of the Woodstock Independent group. Mr. Peets painted this McFee picture a dozen or more years ago; it is not for sale; it depicts the McFee of earlier days sitting supreme in a studio, surrounded by the tools of his craft. It is a corking likeness, too.

Among the water colors is "Foot of Overlook Mt." by Boyer Gonzales, a picture that fascinates because of its simplicity—a cold, gray sky backs an ultra-blue mountain, with a foreground of dead tree stumps; Gonzales often achieves a Homer-like touch in his water colors. L. E. Jones, who puts the same thoroughness in his painting that he does in gallery management, shows three paintings,—the largest, "Winter in the Great Smokies," from Tennessee, an intriguing picture of the haze hanging over huge mountains. His "A Country House" is a delightful little color sketch of a Colonial house. Rose Peck shows a water color of Washington Square, North, which she labels as October. The old French buildings are sufficient to interest the writer, and one hopes that the modern trend of skyscrapers in Gotham will not uproot these dignified dwellings that make Washington Square such a romantic spot for one to sit and dream in any season of the year. R. William Wolcomb, Harry Leith-Ross, each show two smaller paintings that should find many admirers. Cecil Crichtomer is another artist who has entered two paintings, both colorful and sincere pieces of landscape done at Woodstock.

Of the women represented, Eve Watson Schutze exhibits flowers. In the canvas "Peach Bottle and Nicotine," she has achieved something most engaging in design, especially in the bottle. Caroline Speare Rohland, who paints such swirling and alive pictures of circus and Cuban life, has entered a characteristic oil, "Under the Big Top," where the circus is portrayed in moving figures that seem never to stop their rhythm.

Altogether it is a fine exhibition, and those who openly decry the modernistic tendency so evident at the Art Association's large Gallery, will certainly enjoy this more intimate "general exhibition" assembled this week by L. E. Jones at his pleasant "Little Gallery."

In only 2 weeks
Socony Special plus Ethyl
has become the fastest-selling premium gasoline

Just two weeks ago we announced:

"We have added Ethyl anti-knock fluid to Socony Special, making the finest gasoline ever marketed in New England or New York. And at no additional cost to you."

IN two weeks Socony Special plus Ethyl has become the fastest-selling high-compression premium gasoline.

We knew this was going to happen. We knew it had to happen. It's hard to get a big sale on any new product which is only a little better. But when a product is so much better that every user can feel the difference, then it literally sells itself.

Socony Special alone was the best straight-run untreated gasoline that could be made. Thousands of motorists found it so good that they were glad to pay the extra cost.

But we were not satisfied.

There was just one thing that could be done to make it better and that was to add Ethyl anti-knock fluid.

Even a poor gasoline can be given a zero knock rating if enough Ethyl is added. However, a poor gasoline with a zero knock rating is still a poor gasoline.

Adding Ethyl to Socony Special meant taking the final bit of knock out of a smooth, even-burning, clean, wonderful gas. The result is just about perfection. You start with the smoothness of a summer breeze; you glide through traffic; you ease over the hills.

You get a "kick," a thrill, out of driving you never believed possible.

What ETHYL is

Ethyl fluid is the standard anti-knock compound, containing tetraethyl lead. It was developed in the General Motors Research Laboratories to meet the needs of the present-day high-compression motors.

Remember, it is the basic gasoline to which Ethyl fluid is added that determines the ultimate quality of an Ethyl gasoline. The Socony Special which you have been using was a superior high-compression gasoline. With the Ethyl fluid added, this new Socony Special will make old cars run like new cars, and will make new cars perform in a way that you have never known before.

Fruit Stolen By Petty Thieves

Fruit Growers Protect their Property With Vigilance Signs—Troopers Cooperating.

During the current season of each year fruit growers suffer considerable loss from petty thievery. Arrests and convictions have already been made this season and cases have been reported in which the thieves escaped. Most of the fruit thus stolen, is by thoughtless motorists who "help themselves" to it along the roadside.

Several years ago the New York State Farm Bureau Federation with the cooperation of the New York State Troopers developed a plan to protect farmers from petty thievery, which in the aggregate, amounts to many thousands of dollars each year. These two agencies, working through the local county Farm Bureaus of the State have made available "Vigilance Service Signs" to all Farm Bureau members. These signs prevent much thievery. Anyone supplying information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone stealing from property, posted with Vigilance Signs, receives a substantial reward.

The State Troopers, through their officials, have pledged their cooperation in following up cases of this kind. In numerous cases that have been reported this has been true. Many violators have been run down by troopers when the car license number or some meager discriptive information was furnished them.

The "Vigilance Signs" are available at the Farm Bureau Office on John street. All members are urged to post their property with these signs, especially if they have fruit along a highway. They are supplied at a very nominal charge. Only a few are needed to afford adequate protection. For further information, those interested, can consult Albert Kurdt, Manager of the Farm Bureau.

MISS FRENCH WILL WED IN LONDON IF AT ALL.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Miss Valeria French, granddaughter of the late British Field Marshal, arrived here last night on the liner Homeric. She refused to confirm reports of her engagement to Mr. Martin, son of Bradley Martin, New York financier, who is recovering in a Denver Hospital from injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

Asked whether she would visit Mr. Martin at the Denver Hospital, she said: "I cannot say what I shall do. But this is certain, if I marry, the ceremony will be performed in the presence of my relatives and friends in London."

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK AT GETTYSBURG

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP).—President Hoover today accepted an invitation from Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania to make a Memorial Day address at Gettysburg next May.

The invitation was extended in person by the governor during a call at the White House. Former President Coolidge made a speech at Gettysburg in 1928.

Even Hi-jacking Livestock.

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—Things have come to a pretty pass in Chicago, with farmers unable to market their livestock for fear of highway robbers. A trio of robbers drove alongside the truck headed for a stockyards packing company and forced it to the curb. Two of the robbers held the truck driver, Frank Troney, captive while the third man drove off with the truck. Troney later was freed and reported the robbery to the police.

Lawrence of Arabia at Home.

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—Rumors that Lawrence of Arabia had arrived in Palestine or India or other centers of the Moslem world, where the author of "Revolt In the Desert" has so large an influence, were quieted today by denial from authoritative British quarters. The former Colonel T. E. Lawrence, who now calls himself Aircraftsman Shaw, was said still to be on duty in a home station of the Royal Air Force.

61 Fatalities in Typhoon.

Manila, Sept. 5 (AP).—Reports from Bulacan and Laguna provinces today increased to 61 the number of known fatalities, direct and indirect, resulting from the typhoon which raked Luzon Island early this week. Manila today was placed in a restricted water service as the result of the [illegible] from Marikina.

Beret, Blouse and Skirt for Girls' School Wear

Jersey and tweed with a little wool embroidery is the perfect style combination for fall and school. A draped beret of jersey, a jersey slip-over with wool embroidery in self-tone and a shade darker, a skirt of tweed that blends these three are good for twelve-to-twenty. The embroidery is just a simple running stitch. The scarf finish of the blouse makes a flat V neck at the front as if the neck were finished with a facing. In the back the scarf ends hang free and are embroidered in the same design as the lower edge of the blouse and the sleeves. Two plaits at the front of the skirt run into a yoke which is joined to an under-bodice. The beret is in three pieces with the side pieces overlapping at the front and back and darted to bring it to the shape of the head.—Woman's Home Companion.

New Autumn Stockings in Three Color Groups

The new autumn stockings fall into three color groups, those for the blonde, for the medium-complexioned woman and for the brunette. The evening colors are only slightly modified from last season. As to weight, the very sheer are most in demand and are becoming a staple for almost all kinds of wear.

The following chart of stocking shades has been made up by designers according to costume colors and complexions:

With black dresses — blondes: souris, caress; medium: caress, mystery, aurora, meteor; brunettes: mystery, mayfair, aurora, meteor.

With capucine, chestnut or chocolate brown—blondes: beige d'or, light tan, hazel tone; medium: hazel tone, fortuna, beige d'or, mystery, fall tone; brunettes: fortuna, tunis, marron, mystery, fall tone.

With blue dresses—blondes: souris, caress, beige d'or; medium: caress, mystery, meteor; brunettes: mystery, mayfair, meteor.

With wine reds—blondes: mystery, fortuna, dianna; medium: aurora, tunis, dianne; brunettes: tunis, fall tone.

With dark greens—blondes: souris, caress, light tan; medium: caress, mystery, meteor, aurora; brunettes: mystery, mayfair, meteor, aurora.

With evening gowns—blondes: atmosphere, champagne, circe, flesh; medium: champagne, rachelle, cymbeline, delight; brunettes: rachelle, delight, pearl blush, cymbeline.

Gloves for wear with semi-sports costumes are shown with cuffs trimmed with chevron stripes, bands of graduated lengths and sometimes inverted or box plaits. All are well tailored and piped to lend a smart finish.

White Silk Wigs New Fashion for Evening

White silk wigs with black evening dresses were worn by the mannequins of a new Paris fashion house called Maggy Rouff which opened with a splurge recently.

Paris has seen the silk wigs before, since they were introduced several seasons ago, but no fashion house of importance has taken them up heretofore.

The Rouff wig is a form of evening bonnet, completely covering the hair. It has small braided strands, arranged in flat snails along the bottom of the hairline, covering the nape of the neck.

Wood Is Now Used in Necklaces, Belts, Bags

Wood plays an interesting and important place in the accessories. Not only are there wooden bracelets and necklaces and chokers made of wooden beads but there are belts to match made of wooden beads or plaques strung on elastic so that when clasped at the front they cling closely to the figure. Many of the smartest of the new fabric or leather bags are mounted on frames of polished wood showing the grain that gives it distinction.

Dame Fashion Smiles

By Grace Jewett Austin

Grace J. Austin.

Dame Fashion attended the other day a large luncheon of women guests, held at a country club, to mark the close of a closely contested golf championship tournament. Figured frocks and white ones divided ground with those which combined a brilliant color with a harmonizing shade. On her return from the luncheon some one handed her a little joke, on a slip of paper.

This declared that, "A girl may wear a golf outfit when she cannot play golf; a bathing suit when she cannot swim, but a wedding dress means business." Dame Fashion felt sure that of the fine athletic-looking women she had seen at the luncheon, at least 90 per cent were genuine golfers, and in her acquaintance there are not so many who put on bathing suits and are afraid to go near the water.

But with wedding dresses it is another matter. The heroine in "Abie's Irish Rose," who took part in three weddings a night for several hundred nights is said to have worn out many wedding dresses, but she is probably the only woman in the universe who ever actually wore out a white satin-veil-orange blossoms outfit.

Still, these wedding dresses do descend—if not in one form, then in another. A genuine wedding veil of beauty is a delightful thing to cherish for an heirloom. Dame Fashion's mother was married in a wide, hooped gown made from soft silk in the wee-est little pin checks of black and white, so that at only a little distance it became gray in effect. It was laid away carefully and later made over for a daughter in her 'teens, combined with black velvet and making one of those "happy dresses" which are sure to make pleasant things happen when they are worn. And stranger yet, when you consider that first bridal was on June 17—Battle of Bunker Hill day!—1868, with the bridegroom a gallant captain of the Civil war, Dame Fashion saw walking before her just the other day a new silk gown made from almost precisely that same pin check. In the frugal days of old people would ask with tragic accent, "What becomes of the pins?" Dame Fashion has often thought she would like to know hundreds of stories of what becomes of the beautiful wedding dresses.

White never goes out of style, for street and sports as well as wedding gowns. Just by a lofty bank building Dame Fashion saw a young girl standing who seemed to her as beautiful as a poem. She wore a white shantung ensemble, with short jacket. She still kept a white gardenia on her shoulder, and its green leaves, and a touch of blue on her felt hat kept the costume from too much of a dead whiteness. Not so many of us have courage to wear gloves on a warm day, but her immaculate white gloves seemed to give her white costume just its touch of completeness. And they tell Dame Fashion that some pretty girls, who could hardly be coaxed last year to wear gloves in the cold winter, are now quite wedded to glove-wearing!

Water Shortage In Marlborough

Residents of Marlborough are facing a water shortage which has taken on alarming proportions. The village reservoir which has never before been depleted to such an extent that the needs of the village have not been filled, is now practically dry. During the night a small quantity of water is collected and during the morning the residents of the village are able to draw water but the demand is greater than the supply. Wells, springs and other sources are being used to tide over the present dry weather.

BASEBALL POOLS.

Federal proceedings against baseball pools reveal the amazing extent to which this form of lottery has overspread the country and the hold it has upon great numbers of people who do not ordinarily gamble. Starting from a modest printers' pool in a shop at Albany, N. Y., it has developed into a mighty system. It is estimated that $30,000,000 to $50,000,000 has passed through the hands of the operators.

The lure is understandable to anyone who understands human nature. It seems a simple matter and a small risk to put $1 a week into a pool with nine other men, with a one-in-ten chance of getting the whole $10. From this, the game proceeds by easy stages until it has its salaried or percentage operators with their rake-off, and the gambler's dollar added to that of thousands of fellow-players makes a stake representing a small fortune. When the stake becomes $10,000, the gambler fixes his eye on the glittering prize and overlooks the fact that, even if there are no illegitimate profits taken, his chance of winning is 1,000 times as small as it was at first. Thus wages are drained from multitudes and operators grow rich.

On little pools a player may win often enough to break even in the long run. On big pools, as on the national lotteries run in some countries, he may pay all his life and get nothing. Suppose the player put his $1 a week into a thrift account. In 20 or 30 years he would have a respectable and unfailing stake to show for it. But he prefers the big gamble to the modest certainty.

HIGHER BUILDINGS.

Skyscrapers are still going up. That means not merely that skyscrapers are being constructed, but they are going higher up into the air. Announcement has just been made of the building which is to rise on the site of the famous old Waldorf Astoria Hotel at 34th street and Fifth avenue in New York.

The Empire State Building, as this new structure is named, will be nearly 1,000 feet high, towering nearly 200 feet above any existing building in that city of high towers. Its 80 stories will carry it 13 floors above the mighty Chrysler building now under construction. The cost will be upwards of $60,000,000, but the cost seems of less importance than the incredible height.

No doubt New York will take a lot of pride in this building and other cities will narrowly escape civic apoplexy trying to outdo her. Except for the engineering marvel of such structures and, when they are well designed, their lovely towers and graceful ascending lines, it is hard to tell what these giant skyscrapers are good for. True, they house a great many people and offices. Yet at the same time they play havoc with traffic on the streets below. They shut off sunlight from sidewalks and thoroughfares. They narrow the horizon. They crowd human beings together when elbow room and freedom from the press of crowds are so greatly needed.

SILVER-GILT LOCOMOTIVE.

A new locomotive has recently been tried out by the Canadian National Railways. It does some remarkable things such as generating its own electricity, and saving fuel and hauling heavy trains at unusual speed. It has another claim to distinction which is more interesting to travelers in general than its efficiency. It is described as "resplendent in silver-gilt finish."

This is as it should be. Busses and airplanes have never yet robbed the railroad train of romance. There is something about a powerful engine, its bell and whistle, the tracks spinning out to the horizon, that retains a thrill for the average human being. Why should this glorious thing always be dull and ugly black? Why not array the engines in gala coloring suited to the adventures they are forever embarking upon?

In recent years several railroads have seen the light in this regard and have decorated their locomotives. Up to now, however, there has been nothing so fine as this resplendent silver-gilt. Let us congratulate the Canadian National Railways and hope that the example will spread.

Now it is said in London that the Duke of York is slated for a real job. He will be appointed Governor-General of South Africa. That is no less important a post than our governor-generalship of the Philippines. In fact, it is probably more important, for South Africa is one of the main bulwarks of the British Empire. The proposal looks to an American like more common sense. Why have a royal family living in a round of futile activities little better than idleness? If royalty is worth its salt, it should be able to govern. There is some doubt in these days whether royalty, generally speaking, knows how to govern. That makes experiments all the more interesting. Our industrial and commercial monarchs give their sons hard jobs. Why should not kings' sons be tested and expected to make good in some way?

Speaking in the Harlem district of New York city, Congressman De Priest advised the 300,000 persons of his race there to vote solidly for a man of their own color against a white candidate in that district. Similar action in Chicago's black belt elected the speaker himself and sent to Congress the first man of negro blood seen there in many years.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

FIGHT NOISE.

I often wonder why as a people we will fight for our rights along so many lines, and refuse to fight for other rights which are equally as important.

For instance if garbage is not removed, if neighboring yards are in an unsanitary condition, if the roadway is not swept, if drinking water is not kept safe, we are in arms at once. And yet there is something that is just as definitely harmful to that body of yours as any of the above and you stand for it.

I refer to noise.

What is noise?

Some one has said that "any sound that disturbed repose was noise, which startled and exhausted the human nervous system."

The noise from factories, the noises of the street, are growing worse all the time, and little if anything is being done in an organized way to stop the noises.

Why is noise harmful?

Because noise startles, makes you tense, and by keeping you tensed, tires or exhausts the nervous system.

Unfortunately it is early in the morning when you are getting the last portion of your sleep that the street or factory noises begin. This is when you sleep the "lightest" and so often you are thus unable to get to sleep again.

For folks who are sick at home or in a hospital noise is a big factor in retarding their recovery.

It is for this reason that "sleeping" drugs are used so much these days. No doctor likes to give drugs to induce sleep, but the patient must have rest, must have relaxation. Getting rid of "tenseness" by sleep is what the human body needs everyday if it is to do its work properly.

Now what is to be done about noise and noises?

Already we see adjoining hospitals signs notifying the public that that particular district is to be a "quiet zone".

This is one step of course, but the size, weight and speed of trucks, the motor horns, sirens, or klaxons, the asphalt walks and pavements, the whistles of factories and locomotives, flat wheels on trolley cars and many other noises should be investigated and everything possible done to lessen the intensity of the noises they produce.

Being kept alert by noises during the hours of the day as we endeavor to do our work, and kept awake until very late at night and again early in the morning, is doing as much to undermine health, as other conditions that have been overcome by fighting them.

Concerning the fact that Andrew Jackson's group of close friends was called a "kitchen cabinet" the explanation has been given that "all the members of the cabinet were men with whom Jackson could smoke and converse at random without the restraint of a council and clashing minds."

Too Much Preparation

The reason that so many men never seem to get anywhere, in spite of a lot of hard work, is because they wear themselves out getting ready to tackle a job.—American Magazine.

Death Treasure

by R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Victory crowned a gallant and most dangerous chase! Veronica escapes from the pursuing vessel and Cousin John lands in France—safe from the police. Veronica and Tom Grenafen set out into the Channel and again meet the swift French patrol boat. Another order to halt, another defiance by Veronica, and the race is on. Higher and higher rises Fiftiper's speed-indicator, the gunboat in pursuit, bounds hitching ever nearer, siren shrieking. Another victory is at hand for Veronica, when a shell strikes the water in front of Fiftiper, followed by another, even closer. Fiftiper's engines lose to the long-range guns. Veronica faces a conversation with her partner.

Chapter 22

VERONICA TALKS

VERONICA put the rudder hard over and steered for the destroyer, and reached him in three minutes. The destroyer had stopped her engines and Veronica made a detour of her and came alongside, keeping a half dozen yards away from the port side. Then her clear voice rang out, in French:

"What imbecile fired that shot?"

The conversation so begun was laughable.

It appeared the imbecile was the lieutenant in command himself. He stood at the gangway, and when he realized that the man at Fiftiper's wheel was a lady, he saluted gallantly, and said:

"It is I, madame."

Veronica went on, in her torrential French:

"You have made a grand mistake, Mr. Lieutenant. You thought you had caught a poacher or a smuggler? On the contrary you have caught two English yachtsmen who've been out in the Channel all night on account of trouble with their engines and are now on the way home. You have a telescope on board, I believe? Did you think it was a good joke to frighten a woman? Look here! I'll give you my father's name and address. You'd better write to him and apologize, or he'll come over and bite you. And I have the honor to wish you good day, sir."

"Pardon, madame—but you have seen our signals."

"Pardon, monsieur, but we have not seen any signals at all."

"You have heard our siren?"

"We have, but we did not know you were talking to us."

"You have put in to the Bay of St. Michel."

"And then?"

"We have seen a man walking ashore near Pont-ar-Var. One has told us by wireless that he has apparently landed from your boat."

"One has told you a fib. How could a man land from a boat which has not gone near the shore? Your intelligence bureau doesn't function well. Again, I wish you good day, sir. And I counsel you to be more economical of your powder. Adieu!"

Whereupon Veronica switched in her starter and Fiftiper moved away, leaving the excellent lieutenant gaping. In a quarter of an hour he was hull down. In another 10 minutes we had the Channel to ourselves.

We talked of anything but the questions that afflicted my conscience. At last I said:

"When we get back—"

"Andy and Martin you're thinking of?"

"Hardly so much of them as of other curious folks," said I.

"I know. Up to us to balk their curiosity, isn't it? I've got a mother and so've you—both understanding persons. Leave it to them."

And beyond that Veronica would not go. I persuaded her to let me take the wheel while she lay down to rest with one of the rugs around her. I meditated on the night's work.

I had joined in a grotesque escapade which might have alarming results. I had possibly been privy to a crime, an accessory after the fact to a flight from justice. And all because the blue eyes of Veronica had hypnotized me. I literally feared to come out of my trance. With her in this vessel, the muddled ugliness of the things at Blackwater seemed remote. . . .

But we were nearing it again with every revolution of the engine.

"You're a good pal, Tom," Veronica said suddenly.

She threw off the rug, and looked through the screen.

"Lugger," said Veronica. "We shall soon raise land. . . . A very good pal."

We did raise land within a quarter of an hour. I carried on at the wheel until we were close enough to identify landmarks. Then Veronica took charge. She seemed to steer straight for a range of cliffs, far higher than the little ones near Blackwater.

"So we aren't going straight home?" I remarked.

"Not yet. We've a call to make."

"Where are we calling?" I asked.

"Silworthy Cove. I'll tell you why. It's possible we shall find there a fast motor boat which was stolen from Blackwater Creek. I happened to see a doubtful-looking person get on board her last night and drift with her down stream with the tide and go round Sandypoint. . . ."

I think my mouth was hanging open by this time.

"Don't look so flabbergasted! You remember that I met you and told you about it. We drove down the coast keeping the boat in view as closely as possible. My mother came with us as a chaperone."

I gasped and Veronica went on.

"The point is that the suspicious person couldn't manage a racing motor-boat, and when he put into Silworthy Cove and tried to land he ran her on to the beach on a falling tide. When we had driven to the nearest point and climbed down, however, we found the boat high and dry and the suspicious person gone. It was then long past midnight.

"You had strained your ankle coming down the cliff and could not climb up again. Not knowing the country, we decided to hang till it was light. This morning, having bandaged your foot, we climbed painfully back to the car, drove to the nearest telephone, and communicated with Mr. Andrew Royle and asked him to come and take his boat home."

My capacity for thought was exhausted.

"If you can get away with this—" I began. "But Mrs. Seabroke?"

"We shall find mother in the old 'bus, I know where. The only question is whether any interfering person will be out so early at Silworthy Cove."

Our adventure came to an end in the placid waters of that extraordinary little notch in the coast known as Silworthy Cove, an almost landlocked pool surrounded by high cliffs with beaches of reddish yellow sand at their foot.

Fiftiper went in slowly and almost noiselessly. We looked around. No interfering person spoiled our success. We ran as near a beach as we could with safety. I took Veronica on my shoulder to land. We stopped to tie a handkerchief round my ankle.

We climbed by a steep path to the top and walked a few hundred yards to a road, where we found the commander's car, and inside it Mrs. Seabroke—fast asleep!

Sights in Radio Factory Startle Woman Visitor

What makes the biggest impression on women visitors at a modern radio factory—the thirty-two acre plant which Atwater Kent has built as a sign of his faith in the present and future of radio? Here's one woman's answer—written by the wife of a famous announcer, who spent a few hours watching Atwater Kent Radio in the making:

"I have never been so impressed with the change in women's status in manufacturing as I was [illegible] in another part of [illegible] Some of the copper wire used in Atwater Kent receiving sets is finer than a human hair. More than 4,000,000 miles of wire will be used [illegible]

"To a woman, of course, the most interesting thing was the number of women employed, and the importance of their work. You expect to see women assembling small parts of a radio set, but I was [illegible] winding coils (and no dainty, too), operating testing machines, working on radio speakers, burning insulation from wires, assembling various parts of intricate [illegible] and so on.

"I was [illegible] of putting in [illegible] and soldering the connections of a set would be done by men. But [illegible]

ATWATER KENT RADIO

In your home—where a radio must prove itself—this Screen-Grid Set is supreme!

DOES all the hullabaloo of claims confuse you? Don't let it! Why, Atwater Kent could fill a page with great big words describing the technical ways in which the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set is better. But only a radio engineer would understand them.

No. Atwater Kent has always believed in talking about radio in a plain, everyday manner, so that every purchaser could know just what he was getting, and what it would do under his own roof.

When we say that here is a radio made infinitely better by Atwater Kent's method of using the new Screen-Grid tubes and other proved improvements —that it gives you all the light and shadow of music, with every note natural as life, all the way up and down the scale, at any volume, without exaggeration;

—with needle-point selectivity to pick the station you want as a telescope picks out a single star;

—with power to get far-off stations when you want them—more power than you're likely to need;

—with operation as fast as you can move your fingers;

—with no hum, no power noises—

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

How Much Do You Hear When You Listen?

It's a curious fact that many radio listeners are not hearing music as it really is.

They are putting up with reception that was good in the early days of radio but is a pale imitation compared with the living reality as brought to owners of the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set.

How well do you hear the broadcast concerts? Does every part of an orchestra blend into a well-balanced unity?

Do you hear the low notes and the high-est notes, in an [illegible] to the [illegible] of the [illegible]? ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

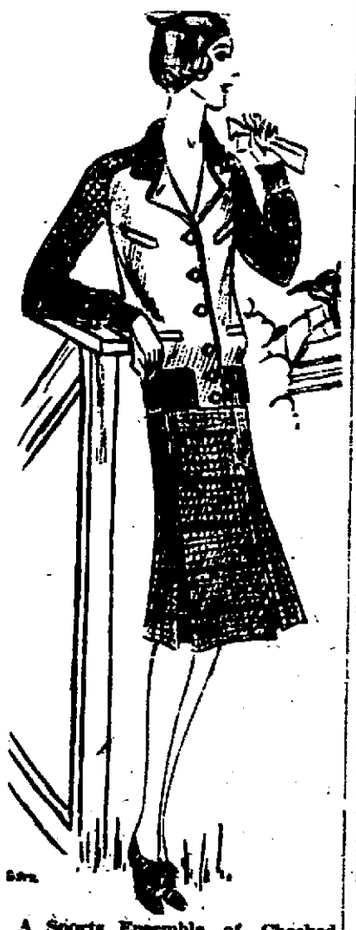
COUNTRY CLOTHES DEVELOP RED AND PURPLE CASTS

New York,—Sports clothes may have been relegated to their natural sphere, but sports being what they are in modern life, clothes appropriate for them remain a definite need.

A fall season without one or a dozen, as the limitation of the wardrobe may be, jersey costumes, would hardly seem like fall. This type of dress is indispensable for country usage, unless one forsakes jersey for tweed or compromises by combining these two sturdy fabrics.



A Sports Ensemble of Checked Woolen and Suede, the Woolen Preferred for Skirt and Raglan Sleeves. Knit Ribbing at Wrist and Hipline of the Jacket Gives the Model the Effect of a Windbreaker. Suede is Favored for the Beret.

(Copyright, 1929, by Fairchild)

Reds, usually dark, and purples, usually bright, are the newest colors in this field, and fir and certain other bluish greens are runners up. Violets and tones deepening to purple are important not only because they are effective but because this range has heretofore been neglected. Curiously enough purple, dahlia, prune and plum are given as important for other occasions and are advocated for evening which is quite as unusual as for sports.

The bell shaped sports coat chez Chanel is quite naturally attracting attention. When one of the most ardent devotees of the straight line departs from it, even for sports, one is impressed with the turn things have taken.

The satin blouse, tuck-in or short and fitted over the hips, is the acknowledged favorite with jacket costumes of the type under discussion. Knitted fabrics in tweed effects are among the interesting sportswear entries.

Discontent

There are two kinds of discontent in this world; the discontent that works and the discontent that wrings its hands. The first gets what it wants and the second loses what it has. There's no cure for the first but success; and there's no cure at all for the second.—Graham.

Food Best Medicine

In many hospitals for the treatment of nervous and mental diseases good nourishing food and plenty of it is regarded as one of the most beneficial "medicines." The theory that good physical condition aids mental recovery is the basis for the treatment.

Activities at The Y. M. C. A.

Now that summer is over the summer clubs of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Division have disbanded and plans are under way for a successful fall season.

The following passed the 9:39 Club examination: Louis Becker, Donald Davis, Arthur Melchior, Edwin Ford, Eugene Lesser, Earl Mellow, Kenneth Tait and Albert Robinson. Albert Robinson received the highest mark in the written examination. These members will receive the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Division Bible certificate and a New Testament.

The fall schedule for swims at the "Y" is as follows:

Student B—Monday, Wednesday, 4:00 p. m.; Saturday, 9:00 a. m.

Student A—Tuesday, Thursday, 4:00 p. m.; Saturday, 10:00 a. m.

Cadet—Join with Student B for a while.

Employed Boy—Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 7:00 p. m.

Al Marz, president of the "Y" Kamp Klub is preparing a program for his club and expects to call a meeting soon so that the club may function regularly.

Friday evening at 7:30 the Selmer-Conn representative, Mr. Cam[illegible] will be at the Y. M. C. A. to organize the Kingston Y. M. C. A. Band. Several returned the cards sent out by the company a few weeks ago and it is thought that within a short time Kingston will have a "Y" Boys' Band which will equal any in the state.

It is not necessary for a fellow to be able to play any instrument in order to join the band. The company will furnish an instructor in all band instruments. Neither is it necessary to belong to the "Y" in order to join the band, although it is expected that after the band is organized the entire membership will become members of the "Y." Any Kingston boy who desires to come to the meeting Friday evening is welcome to do so.

Gave Name to "Joystick"

"Joystick" is the term given the world over the control bar by which a pilot actuates the ailerons and flippers of an airplane and it originated from the name of its inventor, Joyce, a pioneer English aeronautical engineer.

The stick method of control has remained practically unchanged since the early days of flying, but with the recent introduction of large planes and flying boats, the wheel control is coming into favor for these craft.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Before you decide to get up earlier in the morning first make sure that you are a bird and not a worm.

After riding on an overcrowded street car it is hard to see where our children are going to learn good manners.

Worth Consideration

"Be hard boiled," said Uncle Eben, "if you want to, but remember dat de tough egg ain' never gineter have no future prospects."—Washington Star.

SHOKAN.

Shokan, Sept. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Taylor of St. Remy were visitors in Shokan Sunday.

Mrs. George Giles has been spending several days in New York city, where she was called to attend the funeral of the mother of Mrs. Bert Greene, who was Mrs. Giles' relative by marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullen, a young couple from Philadelphia, are sojourning at the Atkins tourists' home on Main street.

Automobiles travel through here on Labor Day was heavy, comparing favorably in volume with that of former years, but with the difference that most of the homeward-bound city folk began to participate in the exodous early in the morning, whereas it has been the custom to remain in the mountains as long as possible. Motorists are learning that if one would get back to the big city at a reasonably early hour in the evening it is wise to be well down the river by late afternoon.

September 4, 1860, the democratic assembly district convention was held at the house of Moses P. Schoonmaker. At this meeting J. H. Kortright was nominated as candidate for assembly and D. W. C. Davis for the office of school commissioner.

The cattle of Daniel Sampson and John and Earl Kirn have been tested by Doctor Fleming, representing the Farm Bureau, and found free from tuberculosis.

Dr. R. P. Baylor, who spent Labor Day fishing for pickerel in Lake Kenozia, was a pleasant caller in the village on that day. Another Kenozia fisherman here recently was young "Doc" Van Wagonen, who asseverated that the bullheads were biting fine, he having pulled in forty of the prickly fellows. The Van Wagonen family have a cottage here, the former Weed place, two houses above the Grossman farm house.

Included among those who attended Old School Baptist meeting here last Sunday was Mrs. Mary Keegan of Spillway, a former resident of Olive.

September 4, 1875, the Rev. Mr. Westover preached in the Dutch Reformed Church of Shokan. At this service the following young women were united with the church: Miss Luna Davis, Miss Anna Hill and Miss Eunice Hinkley.

Oscar E. Ganter and son, Emmett, spent the holiday with Mrs. Ganter at their summer home on North Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Bayliss, who are spending the summer at Pleasantville, spent a couple of days here recently, during which time they made a number of calls on old friends in this vicinity.

Herbert Dibbell of Ridgefield Park, N. J., spent the week-end at his country place along the west branch of the Butternutkill.

Richard Grimth, a former Shokan boy, and family of Passaic, N. J., were the guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Rose.

September 7, 1862, a new draft to enlist men for the Union Army commenced in Kingston, continuing through the 8th. At this time a number of Olive men who had previously been exempted for disability or some other cause were called for examination. During these Civil War drafts considerable opposition arose to the procedure and at times the situation approached the riot stage and the jails became well filled with malcontents.

Edmund Longyear and wife of Rockford, Ill., are visiting Mr. Longyear's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Longyear.

As the drouth continues, water carrying becomes more general among the people of this section. So dry has the ground become that practically all except those who have driven wells are now forced to get water away from home. An apparatus has been rigged up down at the reservoir by which water can be secured at the rate of a barrel a minute, and this convenience has proved a great boon to the driest of our dry citizens. Many of the trees in the woods here are dying, and the grass in most places looks as if it were quite "finished" clear down to the last root tip. At such a critical time let us deal gently with the pessimist who goes around telling the world that this is but the first of a cycle of dry years, such as may be expected to follow after the seven wet ones which have passed.

Harry Markle of Shelton, Conn., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Markle.

Included among the bungalow colonists who have departed for their city homes are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rifenbary of Kingston, who occupied the Will Longyear place during August.

The old toll gate just north of Kingston on the Plank Road, which was operated up to about thirty years ago, was quite a money maker in the days of our grandfathers. During the week of August 29-September 4, 1863, for instance, the total collections at the gate amounted to $182, the smallest sum for any one day being $2.50, which represented the toll for a very stormy day. Sheriff Davis Winne was operator of the gates and stages on the Plank Road at that time. The late DeWitt C. Davis of Shokan, then a young man, was one of the gatekeepers. Mr. Davis made the trip to Kingston nearly every day except Sunday, usually traveling with neighbors who happened to be going to town, otherwise making the trip on foot.

D. W. Comisky is numbered among the guests at Shokan Lodge.

Dr. B. B. Bloom and Mrs. Bloom of Wallkill, together with their daughters, Miss Hazel Bloom and Mrs. Willabelle Harrison, motored to this place last Friday and called on some of their old friends here. The Blooms were residents of Shokan for many years prior to the building of the reservoir and they have many friends in this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Cornwell Longyear of Hillburn, who spent several weeks at the Golden Van Benschoten cottage, returned to their home last Friday.

Workmen employed by the highway department have been paving the state road at its intersection with the north boulevard at the store. Motorists coming up from the dam can now venture into the new concrete without receiving that customary jolt which often is peculiar to the connecting points of roads paved with different materials.

Elmer Tremper, formerly a resident of Chichester, but who now makes his home in Kingston, was a visitor to Shokan on Labor Day.

Charles De La Vergne and family of Kingston spent the week-end at their bungalow on the Ridge Road.

Folks in the heights district seem to be pretty well fixed for water thus far, with the exception of the Nadals, who live on the old John Weeks farm. Their faithful old spring has played out making it necessary to draw water from the Joseph Whittle place. Parlous times, these!

Mrs. Albert Bell of the west side of the reservoir called on several of her old friends here Sunday. Mrs. Bell, who was Miss Annie Rutherford, was brought up in the suburbs of Shokan.

Mrs. Rob Hamilton and daughter of Kingston were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Hamilton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hogan.

The private road through the Secor woods, which some of the Ashokan Heights folk have been using in driving by horse and wagon to Shokan, is now effectually barred by a fence which has been erected at its Ridge Road entrance. It might be a good thing if the town would buy the right of way for a public road along this route, which touches the state road at the Baptist church and thus shorten the distance to the village considerably besides eliminating the dangers connected with coming out of the blind turn where the Ridge road now ends at Hogsback.

Ed. Leyder of Shokan is a shining example of industriousness as opposed to the ambitions of those tired fellows who pine for an eight-hour day and the five-day week. Ed., while holding down his job on the Pitcairn estate, has put in all the hay on the Krekeler place, of which he is superintendent, doing the work nights after putting in his eight hours on the regular job. And that, to any one who has ever put in several fields of hay unassisted, is "nuff sed."

Mr. and Mrs. William Jochem are spending a couple of weeks rusticating at the home of John F. Kirn.

Two cars left the road and plunged down embankments between here and Stony Hollow during the the orgy of holiday fast and reckless driving. The wonder is that more of them do not leave the road thus suddenly and disastrously, so careless are some of the people who slam-bang their way through Olive.

One of the few dug wells still functioning in Shokan is that on the Winchell farm, located a few feet from the 200-year-old log house which adjoins the farmhouse on the west. This deep well now has over six feet of cold water, strange as such a statement may seem in view of the recent wholesale failure of wells and springs. The water has the peculiarity of being slightly impregnated with sulphur, though not in sufficient quantity to make the water disagreeable in taste. The well's being located at the extreme base of the foothills of Tyee-te-Nyck mountain may have something to do with its staying powers. At any rate it would seem to be one of those wells whose owner might place a sign on it with an inscription such as this: Well for sale. If you haven't a million dollars, don't come around!

ACCORD.

Accord, Sept. 5.—Simon Davenport is employed at Mohonk Lake.

Services will be held in the M. E. Church on Sunday, September 8, as usual. Sunday school at 10; preaching service at 11, conducted by the Rev. J. J. Lyons.

Mrs. Daisy Rider spent the week-end with her sister in New Haven, Conn.

John Lawrence and Mrs. Russell Lawrence spent the week-end at Lake George.

The ordination and installation of Ben Scholten will be held at the Rochester Reformed Church on Friday, September 6, at 8:15 p. m., daylight saving time.

The young people's meeting will be resumed Sunday evening at 7:30; topic, "What Does Our Church Ask of Us?"

Sunday morning at 10:30 communion will be observed at the Rochester Reformed Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Gosselink and daughter expect to be present at the ordination and installation service on Friday evening and will remain at Accord a few days before leaving for the foreign mission field in Arabia.

An engineer of the Yodina Rectal Treatment: FIRST: I agree to return the full purchase price if you are not satisfied with results. SECOND: I guarantee it contains no mercury, no alcoh, no narcotic, nor any other harmful ingredients. Thomas W. Leahy (M. D., D. O.)

Relief in 5 Minutes

No matter how bad, nor how long you have had piles, hemorrhoids or rectal ulcers—quick, safe certain relief is now assured by this discovery of a New York specialist, Dr. H. H. Leahy.

Prominent Specialists Prescribe Yodina Discovery

The Yodina pile treatment has already been used extensively in the famous Lindsley Sanitarium, as well as in other well known health institutions. The results from Yodina certainly must be unusually good if so many doctors write in its praise. Dr. Oscar Lee of Washington, for instance, calls Yodina "a remarkable treatment for patients afflicted with hemorrhoids—internal, protruding, itching, etc.—with quick results."

Hemorrhoids Dry Up

Dr. A. W. Herr of Cleveland, and formerly physician, Battle Creek Sanitarium, says "Yodina suppositories are the best I have ever used. They seem to dry up the piles. And they are perfectly harmless. Even though you have bleeding hemorrhoids, insert one suppository at bedtime and you will feel much better in the morning."

The London Health Center and other internationally known health institutions hand Yodina.

Don't wait. Try Yodina—it is soothing, healing, and in time will help abolish piles. It induces comfort and a normal condition.

Pierce-Arrow fineness reflects In These New Colorings

WHEN the new Autumn colorings for Pierce-Arrow were being created—the work of artists who are masters of color and design—especial care was given to harmonizing the interiors with the exteriors. A remarkable richness of tones throughout is the altogether charming result.

So striking was the slender grace of the new Straight Eight line—so completely did it outmode the bulk and stodginess of other fine cars—that fineness of detail was somewhat taken for granted. The added new colorings, however, lend emphasis in this particular.

There will never be enough Pierce-Arrows to become commonplace—because mass production is not compatible with Pierce-Arrow standards. But people who own the instinct for fineness usually own also a Pierce-Arrow—or ultimately mean to. And such are the people who will particularly appreciate the new Pierce-Arrow colorings.

Rotary Hears Talk on Music

The common sense of music, based upon its three major elements, rhythm, melody and harmony, was brought to members of the Rotary Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel Wednesday noon by Dr. Sigmund Spaeth of New York, who spoke in the interest of the Community Concert Association, which is planning its second year's program and intends to bring musical artists of national standing to Kingston during the winter.

In showing that the rhythm or time of music was in many cases the same, though the theme of the selections differed, Dr. Spaeth played two numbers, the "Lohengrin" wedding march and Chopin's funeral march, both of which are of the same pattern, but are at opposite extremes in theme.

Using the four basic notes of the Westminster chimes, Dr. Spaeth altered the order and made the tune "How Dry I Am." He explained that the same rhythm was used over and over again, each time the theme being different.

In closing, the speaker said that music at present needed honesty and sincerity more than anything else, and that service clubs could be of great benefit in creating a love of concert music.

The Community Concert Association will open its campaign for memberships in the near future. The Rotary club has appointed a special committee to aid in this work. John C. Porter is secretary of the association at present but a reorganization will take place in the near future.

Guests of the Rotary Club included William H. Connelly of Woodbury, N. J., and Prof. William W. Michael of Pasadena, Calif.

SEPTEMBER

How dear to my heart is golden September
The melons, the peaches, the green waving corn,
And scarlet tomatoes that glow like an ember,
Reflecting the flame of the reddening morn.
Mellow with thoughts of the days we remember,
Bright with the promise of coming good cheer—
Colorful, comforting, kindly September,
Golden September, the crown of the year!

September morn is around again, but few think to gaze as they once did. Rather a bore, don't y' know.

Gladys—Dear, we lost half our kitchen equipment when our country home burned.

Mabel—Yeah? Which was it, the can-opener or the corkscrew?

I AM—

I have lived a long and honorable life.

I have seen month after month stripped from the pages of time; I have seen endless new calendars hung on the walls, but I never have been disturbed. I have lain quietly in my place while time has slipped by—tick-tock-tick-tock!—days. weeks. months. years.

I have seen children come into the office where I dwell; I have seen them grow older—sometimes I have seen them marry. And then, a short time afterward, I have seen them come back, pushing a baby carriage themselves.

Who am I?

Oh, yes, I forgot to tell you—

I am the faithful old magazine that has lain so long on the table in the doctor's reception room.

One Guess Left

"My new girl is an enigma to me."

"How come?"

"I always feel like kissing her or spanking her."

"Which do you do?"

"Well, she's too nice to be spanked."

He—If you keep looking at me like that I'm going to kiss you.

She—Well, I can't hold the expression much longer.

A free country is one in which each man submits to tyranny in order to make his neighbor behave.

Teacher: "Napoleon once said there was no such word as can't."

Voice from the back of the class: "Please, Miss Walton. I wonder what he would have said if he had tried to strike a match on a piece of soap?"

If you fail to see the point in some of our paragraphs, don't worry about it. Possibly they haven't any.

An Irishman who had just arrived in New York was taking his first walk under escort of his brother, who had been living there several years. In the window of a shop he saw a great mound of fresh cranberries.

"What are thim?" he asked.

"Thim is cranberries," said the brother.

"Are they fit to eat?"

"Are they fit to eat?" repeated his brother. "Why, whim thim cranberries is stewed they make better apple sauce than prunes does."

Canvasser: "Does your husband still play golf?"

Mrs. Knill: "Yes".

Canvasser: "Then I'm sure you will want one of these thirty-eight volume book-sets I am selling. It will help you to while away many a lonely hour."

Dentist, before extraction—"Are you a bleeder?"

"No, and I hope you're not."

SMUGGLERS OF ALIENS ARE DISAPPEARING FROM SEAS

Coast Guard and Immigration Service Steadily Reduce Illicit Traffic.

Washington.—Smugglers who formerly carried on a lucrative trade through an extensive traffic in aliens whom they landed in the remote inlets and coves of the United States' far flung coast line are disappearing from the high seas, immigration officials believe.

Combined efforts of the coast guard and immigration service have steadily reduced smuggling of aliens by the water route, although figures indicate an increase in aliens entering this country by land. More than 18,000 smuggled aliens were captured last year by the border patrol.

By far the largest percentage of aliens smuggled into this country come by way of the land borders on the north and south, entering from Canada and Mexico, with a small fraction of the total being landed by smugglers on the Florida coast, officials stated.

Most aliens smuggled into this country by vessel have come from southern Europe, the Cape Verde islands, Cuba and the Bahamas. It was customary for the aliens to pay about $200 a head to the smuggler.

Smugglers have been known also to marry Cuban or other foreign girls and bring them in legally as their wives. Sweethearts here of foreign girls sometimes paid to have them smuggled through the immigration barriers.

One of the most serious problems confronting the immigration service now, Harris said, is the widespread use of faked documents by which aliens are enabled to present to American consuls abroad false passports and birth certificates. This practice has become so extensive lately, he said, that it is baffling both the immigration service and State department.

While official figures indicate an ever increasing tide of smuggled aliens is coming over the United States border lines, Harris declared the increased efficiency of the border patrol has resulted in more captures. In this way the number of seizures is rising, but, Harris said, smuggling has not increased proportionately.

Brain of Mummy Contains Vitamine D

London.—The brain of an Egyptian mummy dating from about 500 A. D. has been examined by chemists and found to contain ergosterol, the parent substance of vitamine D. This news comes from Drs. H. King, Otto Rasenheim and T. A. Webster, working at the National Institute for Medical Research here. They find that ergosterol is remarkably stable in animal tissues (brain, gallstones, blood, skin, eggs, etc.), although it is very unstable when separated from other substances. In the animal tissues it is protected by a closely related substance called cholesterol, which was originally thought to be provitaman D.

Ergosterol has now been found in conjunction with cholesterol in a mummy brain which is about 1,400 years old. The brain was of Coptic origin and was removed from one of the bodies found in tombs in Antinoe, Upper Egypt. No embalming process had been used, and the organs of the body were preserved in their original positions, but of course shrunk and mummified under the influence of the dry atmosphere of Egypt.

Vitamine D was prepared by irradiating the ergosterol mixed with cholesterol from the mummy brain, and it was found that it had the same power of preventing rickets in rats as vitamine D from the ergosterol of fresh brain.

Pilot's Plane Takes Him for Ground Ride

New York.—Hobart Beals, a pilot, who thought he had experienced all the thrills of aviation, changed his mind when his plane took him for a ride at Roosevelt field, Long Island, and the odd part of it was the ship didn't leave the ground.

Beals was draped over the idling motor, adjusting the carburetor, when he accidentally jammed the carburetor control full open. The ship began to move, slowly at first and then faster, until it was dashing in wild circles about the field, while Beals could do nothing but hang on.

Fred Griest, a fellow airman, made a dash for the side of the locked airplane as it went by him, thrusting his arm into the cockpit and snapped off the ignition switch.

Where Nature Intended Bedbugs Should Live

Manistique, Mich.—That the unspeakable bedbug was designed by nature to live a life in the woods is the assertion of lumbermen working at Camp No. 8 of the Antrim Iron company here. The company is the owner of the last stand of virgin hardwoods below the straits.

"Bedbugs are frequently found swarming like bees in old hemlocks," said J. G. Morey, senior of the camp. "Thousands of them will be found in an area of a few feet. They usually select old and shaky trees as their rendezvous."

Bedbugs are brought to human habitations by lure, according to Morey, who declares that civilization changed their habits.

Trout Angling

Trout usually feed with their heads upstream, since the coming current washes their food down to them. Consequently it is always considered wisest to fish upstream to escape the notice of the waiting fish.

CARD SHARPERS BUSY ON SHIPS

Many Americans Who Are Swindled in Games Not Aware of Crookedness.

Paris.—If you are coming to Europe, watch out for the man aboard the liner who warns you of the tricks of the card sharpers who haunt the transatlantic giants. Most likely he is one of the gang himself and has picked you out as his pigeon.

This is a favorite opening for the card sharper, according to the French police, who each year have more and more complaints from Americans debarking at Cherbourg, who have been swindled during the voyage. It is estimated also that perhaps 50 per cent of the passengers who are swindled are ignorant of the fact, believing they lost their money fairly.

Police Co-Operate.

Recently the French Surete-Generale and Scotland Yard got together to try to curb the activities of the transatlantic crooks, but it is a hard job. In the first place, the shipping companies do not want detectives to travel aboard their vessels, since if passengers found out they would probably tell their friends and the ships would gain a bad reputation.

Most of the shipping companies know the prominent card sharpers. This is understood, as these crooks spend the season traveling between the United States and Europe. But the ship owners are unable to interfere, for two reasons. First, they have no definite proof and they would hate to take a chance; secondly, the fear of creating bad publicity again holds good here.

Blackmailed of $5,000.

It is known that some card sharps travel all the year round on the Atlantic route, devoting their attentions in the winter to big men of business going to Europe. Other crooks change about, going down to Havana in the winter, or even working the Pacific until business brightens on the Atlantic. The Atlantic trip, however, is more favored, since the voyage is shorter, enabling the crook to skip ashore at Cherbourg with his loot before the ship gets too hot to hold him.

Nor are card sharps the only pests. He is only one of a variety of parasites who make the big ships their business field. When the tourist season opened this year a rich New Yorker was swindled by blackmailers to the tune of $5,000. He had made the acquaintance of a good-looking girl who invited herself to a cocktail party in his cabin, and then along came the husband unexpectedly. The business man paid to keep things quiet.

Hay Fever

Home Treatment

If you want a really effective treatment for Hay or Rose Fever go right to McBride's Drug store and ask for a bottle of Opex.

Spray the nostrils two or three times a day—oftener if necessary.

You'll be surprised and delighted—not only will Opex soothe and heal the raw inflamed membrane, but it will promptly stop the humiliating discharge. If it fails, get your money back.

If you start to use Opex now the expected attack may not appear—this happened in many cases last year.

The price is but $1.00 and McBride's Drug Store will gladly tell you all about it.

Engineer Runs 167,000 Miles on 50-Mile Road

Clarendon, Ark.—J. M. "Uncle Bud" Smith of Clarendon has issued a challenge to every railroad man in America to equal his forty-seven years of service with one 50-mile railroad.

While in a mood for statistics "Uncle Bud" recently figured he had run his engine more than 167,000 miles over the fifty mile line from Helena to Clarendon.

He began his employ with the road as a fireman at the age of twenty-one and three years later was made engineer. He has worked a total of 17,250 days for the road. He estimates he has used enough steam in blowing the whistle to carry the train once around the world.

The road was known as the Arkansas Central when he began working for it. Later it was changed to the Arkansas Midland, and is now a part of the Missouri Pacific system.

Thieves Steal Copper From Roof of Church

Pittsburgh, Pa.—Homestead police had a new weighty problem on their hands recently.

Four copper rain conductors, each weighing about 300 pounds, have been stolen from the roof of St. Ann's Catholic church.

Rev. John Hrytanek said: "I've no more idea who took them, or how, than I have of how and by whom the two-ton bell was stolen from the belfry of my church a year ago."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—The bull party regained control of the price movement in today's stock market, but signs of nervousness on the part of professional traders which have been apparent for the last few days had not entirely disappeared.

New soft spots cropped out from time to time, and some of the rallies in the pool favorites were checked by heavy offerings. Speculative interest shifted from the coppers to the public utilities and thence to the rails, with the motor, steel, electric and merchandising shares also presenting a few points of strength.

Wall Street apparently was pleased that no change had been made in the Bank of England discount rate, as it was feared that an increase would result in a heavy withdrawal of funds from New York and complicate the already tight credit situation here.

Call money renewed unchanged at 9 per cent but there was a fairly heavy calling of loans by out-of-town lenders, and the rate threatened to go higher. Nearly $150,000,000 in stock subscriptions for one of the recently organized large investment trusts was called for payment tomorrow.

Outside of the credit situation, two of the most significant developments of the day's news were the establishment of a new seasonal record in freight car loadings and the announcement that copper sales in the first week of September were the largest in history. This was reflected in a better demand for the copper and railroad shares, although several of the leading commission houses continued to urge caution on the theory that a further corrective reaction was necessary.

Utah copper soared 24 points on a few sales. Phelps Dodge moved up 3 points on reports that sales this week were in excess of 40,000,000 pounds as compared with total sales of 65,161,876 pounds in the entire first six months of the year.

Atchison and Chesapeake and Ohio, with early gains of about 4 points, were the leaders in the railroad group. Pennsylvania also was heavily bought. Simmons Company, which recently announced an expansion in its business, ran up 7 points to a new high at 154.

Otis Elevator jumped 8 points to a new top at 431. American Rolling Mills, Worthington Pump and Myers also sold at new peak prices.

WOULD FINGERPRINT ALL PERSONS ARRESTED

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Elvin N. Edwards, district attorney of Nassau county, speaking here today before the convention of the International Association for Identification, suggested that every person arrested should be fingerprinted, and such records filed with the Central Bureau of Washington, and with each of the state bureaus.

"In Nassau county," said the speaker, "we have closed 300 speakeasies since the first of January and collected more than $50,000 in fines, but we are handicapped by the fact that the law did not permit speakeasy proprietors to be fingerprinted. Thus we lost a great opportunity to clean up a lot of fugitives from justice."

George A. Craft, Buffalo, connected with the National Association of Credit Men, told how credit men, through a $1,000,000 fund, curbed the activities of "commercial crooks." He said the association had secured 800 convictions and had been instrumental in recovering $1,300,000 worth of concealed assets.

The dead youth was Clarence Ward, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ward of Grindstone Island. The skiff, powered by a motor, struck a log and sank in five minutes.

Grappling was under way today for Ward's body.

Burro Back on Job After 500-Foot Fall

Eugene, Ore.—A member of the burro family put a blemish on the reputation of that species of pack animal as far as surefootedness is concerned when he fell 500 feet over a precipice in the Cascade mountains recently.

The little animal set a new record for hardihood, however.

Dee Wright, packer and guide, told the story when he came into town here recently. While traveling a narrow trail the burro slipped and fell over the edge of the cliff for an almost sheer drop of 300 feet. Then he rolled another 200 and lodged in a clump of trees on the mountainside.

When released from the limbs, between which he was jammed, the tough little beast leaped to his feet. The next day he was back in the pack train and carrying his accustomed load.

TRIAL STARTED AT LAST IN NORTH CAROLINA CASE.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 5 (AP).—The trial of sixteen men and women, textile mill strikers and strike leaders, accused of the murder of O. F. Aderholt, chief of police of Gastonia, finally reached the taking of evidence today with both state and defense battling stubbornly over every point.

Sixteen state witnesses were sworn when the jury, which was finally obtained yesterday after more than a week of effort, entered court today.

The first battle over the question of evidence came up when the state trundled a life-size model of a policeman dressed in uniform and with a chief's badge into court. The defense objected. Arguing they admitted the officer was shot, Judge M. V. Barnhill then ordered the dummy removed from the court room over the objection of the state.

The judge, on objection of Arthur Garfield Hayes of defense counsel, ruled out statements made by Aderholt during his last hour as quoted by the physician.

Swindled He Collects $2,769

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—E. N. Byrne, a mining engineer from Lexington, Ky., won a nice piece of change yesterday on a horse that ran next to last in the third race at Lincoln Fields. Then he went to the police station to have the man who gave him the tip arrested.

A while ago Byrne met a man who said he was Lee Lester and owned a string of horses. Unfortunately, Lester added, the horses were at Pimlico, Md., and therefore unable to run at Lincoln Fields unless Mr. Byrne could find it in his heart to lend Lester $400, railroad fare for the nags.

So Mr. Byrne did so. Yesterday Lester dropped around and said the horses arrived all right and that one of them, a steed called Brockway, was sure thing to finish second in the third race. Would Mr. Byrne care to bet $200 on the horse, Lester, of course, to place the money. The engineer from Lexington forked over $200 then the horseman disappeared.

Byrne decided to go to Lincoln Fields and watch the bangtails perform. Further he decided to put $500 on Brockway to finish second.

The race was a keen disappointment to him. Brockway couldn't seem to get started. After what seemed ages, Brockway straggled in, next to last. Byrne began to suspect he had been gulled. He made inquiries. He learned that Brockway no more belonged to Lester than to the man in the moon. He learned that Lester had no string of horses.

But he learned something else. Brockway was a "field" horse; and another field horse, Royal Omar, finished second. A bet on any field horse that finishes in the money also pays off on any other runners in the field. In this case the pay-off was $18.46 on a $2 ticket. Byrne collected $2,769.

With the $2,769 in his pocket, Byrne hustled down to police headquarters and demanded the arrest of Lee Lester.

"The fellow's a swindler," said Byrne. "He doesn't own a string of horses at all, and he got $600 of my money."

Harold Taylor entertained with a series of fine moving pictures of telephone operations, he being engaged in that line of work, portraying the advancement and development of the telephone. The fine films with proper dictaph, produced the pictures clearly and distinctly. They were thoroughly enjoyed by the members who expressed their appreciation of Mr. Taylor's efforts in their behalf. Delicious refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Krom, Lester McAvoy, Mrs. Dora Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. George McAvoy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yonker, Miss Dorothy Krom, Miss Mary Olive Bell. The next meeting will be held September 9, when new members will be admitted and which all members are requested to attend.

Tagging Major League Bases

By William J. Chipman,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Even though the Cubs won only one of their games against the Cardinals at St. Louis yesterday, Joseph McCarthy advanced two notches nearer a figurative stranglehold upon the National League championship. The Pirates were considerate enough to permit the Reds to remain with a 5 to 4 decision in Cincinnati, leaving the Bruins in need of just fourteen victories to win even if the Buccaneers should sweep the rest of their schedule.

The Athletics and the Yankees enjoyed a day of rest, precluding any change in the American League where the Macks need eleven triumphs in twenty-three engagements.

The Cubs missed a chance to score a double victory in St. Louis only through a six-run explosion personally engineered by young Kenneth Penner in the eighth inning of the first game. Penner had followed Bush and Nehf into the box, and was in possession of an 8 to 8 tie when the Cardinals come to bat in the eighth to pound out a 14 to 8 decision. The Cubs won the nightcap by 8 to 3.

Home runs were plentiful in the double clash between the new champion and the old. Hack Wilson hit his thirty-sixth, keeping pace with Ott, who, with Wilson, moved to within one of Klein, the leader, and Hornsby landed his thirty-third. Stephenson, Frisch, Roettger and Bottomley rounded out the four-base coterie.

The immediate designs of the Phillies gainst fifth place were frustrated by the Robins who made off with both decisions in a doubleheader at Baker bowl by scores of 4 to 3 and 9 to 7, the second a ten-inning slugfest.

Dazzy Vance outpointed Harry Smythe in the opener, giving the Asheville southpaw his first defeat after three straight victories. Smythe also finished the second game after it already had been lost. Don Hurst for the Phils and Val Picinich for the Robins hit home runs. The double triumph gave the Robins a lead of two and one-half games over the Phils for the top place in the second division.

Larry Benton's pass to George Sisler with the bases full of Braves in the tenth gave the Bostonese an 8 to 7 decision over the Giants at the Polo Grounds after Melvin Ott's homer had tied the score in the ninth. Phil Voyles, a Pennsylvania semi-pro, made his Major League debut with the Braves, and hit a triple and a single. Judge Fuchs didn't even know the recruit's name when the line-up was announced, but any one of several Giant pitchers could have informed him a few minutes later. Voyle's blows drove in two runs.

Ray Yolp rushed to the aid of Eppa Rixey in the Pirate game at Cincinnati and got credit for the victory. Rixey had not pitched the requisite number of innings—which is five in the National League—to win the game. Meine went the route for the Pirates, pitching fine ball after yielding five runs in the third.

The race for third place in the American League remains close, with Cleveland one and one-half games ahead of St. Louis. Wesley Ferrell pitched the Indians to a 7 to 2 victory over the White Sox. It was Ferrell's seventeenth victory.

The Red Sox closed their series at home against Washington with a 5 to 1 victory.

Stretchers at Ringside

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP).—"Take him out feet first, men." This may be the command at the ringside as a result of the order issued by the Illinois State Athletic Commission today, requiring promoters to have two stretchers ready to remove knockout victims unable to walk out of the ring. The usual procedure has been for the handlers to toss the losing fighters over their shoulders and carry them out through the crowd. The commission has considered this a very ungentlemanly way to treat a boxer after he has been knocked out.

New Two-Year-Old Pacing Record.

Chatham, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP).—Officials of the Columbia county fair were claiming today that a new pacing record for two-year-olds on a half-mile track was established at the Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon. Cold Cash, a bay mare owned by F. C. Niles of Kansas City, Mo., and driven by Walter T. Britenfield, negotiated the third and final heat of the 2:12 pace in 2:08½. According to track officials the previous best time for two-year-old pacers on a half-mile track was 2:09¾.

TENNIS IS SPORT, SAYS HELEN WILLS

Always to Be of Secondary Importance to Her.

Tennis has made Helen Wills one of the most famous women in the world today, but tennis, she said always has been and always will continue to be a matter of only secondary importance in her life.

"I don't know how my life looks to other people," she said, "but I've never let tennis be the thing that mattered most. You can't do that. Tennis is lots of fun—but it's only a sport."

If you don't think Helen Wills meant that, read what happened to her in New York and her reaction to it.

When she came in on the Aquitania, winner for the third successive year of the Wimbledon championship, thirty news cameramen and a big crowd of reporters boarded the ship at quarantine to take pictures of her and interview her.

After the ship docked, one of the ship reporters hurried to a telephone and, in his story, quoted Miss Wills as having said she doubted if she ever would play tennis in Europe again. The story went out, and during the afternoon reporters began to flock into her hotel to find out why.

"Somebody must have misunderstood me," she said amiably, when she had found out what the excitement was all about.

"After all, that would be natural enough; there were lots of people around and quite a bit of confusion.

Helen Wills.

What I meant to convey was that I didn't know whether I'd go back next year or not—that I'd made no plans.

"As a matter of fact, I've never made plans very far ahead about going to Europe to play tennis. I'd love to go over and play again next year, but I'm not able to say right now whether I can or not.

"After all (consolingly) don't take all this so seriously. It's only tennis."

Helen Wills loves tennis—as a sideline, but as for the fame it has brought her—

"Oh, that isn't fame," she said hastily. "Not real fame. If I could ever make any important scientific discovery, or become a great artist, or—something like that—well than I might be famous, but tennis.

"Tennis is just a sport—something that's fun. For awhile, since I've been playing tournament tennis, I was going to college, and I made that count more—really mean more to me as a person—than tennis. My drawing means more than tennis to me, too.

"You see, I've got my life ahead of me, and I can't let tennis be the only thing in it—nor the most important thing."

"Perhaps," one reporter suggested, "You may not go to Europe next year because you'll be married by then."

But all that got was a laugh.

It is an anomaly in British civil life that women mayors are not mayoresses. That title is reserved for the wife of a mayor or, in the absence of a wife, for a daughter or any other woman whom the mayor (man or woman) may appoint.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Georgia Tech very obligingly ended most of the argument over the award of gridiron championship laurels last season by taking the all-important decision from California in the big battle at Pasadena, thereby keeping one of the few clean slates of the year altogether spotless.

Now, another campaign and a fresh outburst of debate is about to get under way. In fact this week will see most of the squads of big colleges throughout the country in moleskins for the early training paces. It has caused some agitation upon the part of those who deplore this football overemphasis but the fashion for training camps is well established now. The stakes nowadays and the premium on victories are high enough to justify all the elaborate advance preparations.

From this conning tower it looks like another open battle all along the football fronts. Georgia Tech will be very much in the running again. No team with such ball-carriers as Mizell and Thomason can be kept from rolling up a lot of yardage on anybody's field. Duke, Florida, Tulane and Tennessee are other strong-looking Southern teams. Tennessee had a great young pair of backs last fall in Hackman and McEver. They should be greater this year.

Army, Pittsburgh, Carnegie, N. Y. U., Georgetown and Pennsylvania were among the east's best teams last year, although each absorbed a few bumps. Pitt should be one of the strongest again but Carnegie and N. Y. U. have been hard hit. The Scotch lost their great quarterback, Howard Harpster, and Cy Letzelter, a fine halfback, now a West Point plebe. N. Y. U. has lost Ken Strong, All-American carrier, and Ed Hill from the backfield, Al Lassman and Bob Barabec, towers of strength in the line.

Illinois, Big Ten champions twice in a row, will have most of its stars back, including eight regulars of the 1928 array. The Illini plan a warm reception for western conference rivals as well as West Point which, led by the celebrated Red Cagle, journeys to Urbana early in November. If the red head can do his stuff on the area made famous by the cleats of Grange, the pupils of Zuppke will have an entertaining afternoon.

Ohio State, under a new head coach, Sam Willaman, has some fine material, including a great end in Wesley Fesler. Northwestern, Minnesota and Wisconsin also have bright prospects. In fact the Big Ten is strong in almost every sector.

Nebraska, with D. X. Bible at the helm after a long experience in Texas, will be well equipped to defend its rule among the Big Six of the Missouri Valley.

The Pacific coast's big teams have lost heavily in star talent. Of the players conspicuous last fall any time the All-American subject came up for debate, Carroll of Washington, Hoffman, Post and Robeskey of Stanford, Phillips of California, Hibbs of Southern California and Franklin of St. Mary's are missing from the roll-calls this month.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT OPENS NEXT WEEK.

With the Kingston open tennis tournament but one week off, there is every indication that the event will be a success. To date a considerable number of entries have been received with more coming in daily. Among those entered so far are: Randall Rose, Jansen Fowler, Robert Herzog, Ralph K. Forsyth, Edward Lacey, Howard Clayton, John Oliver, Benjamin Cohen, Stanley Hummel of Albany, Kneeland Moore, Palmer Brodhead and Robert L. Moore.

In conjunction with the regular tournament a consolation tournament will be held for those eliminated in the first round. During the past week the caretakers of the park have been working hard on the courts and all that is needed to put them in perfect condition is a little rain.

The tournament will begin at 2 o'clock but a suitable time will be arranged for business men or school players. Anyone desiring to enter please communicate with Robert L. Moore. The entry list must be in by September 9.

MAGISTRATE FORGOT BROWN WAS NO SOUTHPAW

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Magistrate Albert H. Vitale's big mistake was in forgetting that the famous twirler Mordecai (three fingered) Brown was no southpaw.

So when a Dr. Edward Brown, haled before him for failing to pay a taxicab driver a $21.75 balance on a $100 joyride, held up a left hand shy two fingers and announced he was the famed Chicago Cub's twirler, he became sentimental and dismissed the case on Brown's promise that he would pay the balance of the taxi fare.

Later in his chambers the magistrate recalled that pitcher Brown was a right hander but then it was too late to do anything about it.

Jones Eliminated In First Round

Johnny Goodman, 20-year-old Omaha star, accomplished the downfall of the National Open king and four-time amateur titleholder by the narrow margin of one up in a match decided on the home hole, but actually tossed away by the defending champion on the 14th.

Goodman in turn was knocked out of the tournament in the second round by another giant killer, 18-year-old William Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco. But for the day, at least, the cornhusker enjoyed the rare thrill of fairly beating the world's most renowned exponent of the royal and ancient game.

The outcome of the hectic first two rounds of match play left eight players—three from the far west, three from the east, one each from the mid-west and England, to battle it out today in the 36-hole quarter finals. In this free-for-all scramble for the crown lost by Jones, these contestants were paired today as follows:

Cyril Tolley, British champion, vs. Dr. O. F. Willing, Portland, Ore.

Jess Sweetser, New York, vs. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore.

George Voight, New York, vs. Harrison Johnston, St. Paul.

Francis Ouimet, Boston, champion in 1913, vs. William Lawson Little, Jr., San Francisco.

Over the longer route that prevails for the remaining tournament play, the 36-hole distance that has been so much to the liking of the dethroned champion in four of the past five years, the favorites of the "last eight" were the Briton, Tolley, and the New Yorker, Voight. Both, on the basis of their sensational scoring yesterday, appeared to have regained their best form for the critical stages of the tournament, just as the reverse seemed true so far as Jones was concerned.

Jones was beaten, principally, because he lost the putting touch that usually is his in any tournament, day by day or in the pinch. There are no better putters in the world than the Georgian. But his famous goose-necked blade, "Calamity Jane", began to lose effectiveness in the qualifying round and failed to stage a comeback.

Municipalities

A municipality is an incorporated city, town, village or borough possessing a charter of incorporation conferring privileges of local self-government.

Industrial League Series Friday

The second game of the Industrial League series is scheduled for Friday evening, at 6 o'clock, at the Athletic Field. If the Hercules, who won the first game, take the second contest they will be crowned champion. But if they should lose and the Gasco win, the series will be at a deadlock and another game will be necessary to decide the champions. Ken Best no doubt will try to pitch his team to a second victory, while Walt Black is the Gascos' best bet and is slated to do the hurling.

Suffixes in Names

The terminations "off" and "eff" in Russian names signify a grandson or descendant. The "itch" or "vitch" means a son. "Ski" is of local origin and refers to the city.

Thief Soliciting Palestine Funds

A young man without authority has been soliciting funds for the relief of the Jews in Palestine, according to reports from the Jewish Community Center on Broadway, near Spring street. This man, who is not a Jew, but has the appearance of an Irishman, is making a house to house canvass asking for funds. Jews in charge of Palestine relief say that no one has been authorized to make such solicitations, except a Jewish committee, which will work entirely among its own people. Jews would be glad to receive any information concerning this man, because they feel he is hurting the Palestine relief work in Kingston.

HARRIMAN NATIONAL BANK FLEECED OUT OF $75,000.

New York, Sept. 5 (AP).—Police all over the country have been requested to help find a man who said he was C. A. Waggoner, Bank President of Telluride, Colorado, who is charged with having fleeced the Harriman National Bank out of $75,000 by using a fake telegram in bankers' code and a presumably forged cashier's check.

A week ago, according to Assistant District Attorney Harold W. Hastings in charge of the indictment bureau, the Harriman Bank received a code telegram supposedly from the American Exchange National Bank of Denver asking for the transfer of $75,000 from the Harriman Bank to the credit of the Telluride Bank of Colorado in the Wall Street branch of the Chase National Bank.

The money was placed on deposit there and subsequently a man who said he was C. A. Waggoner, President of the Telluride Bank, appeared with a cashier's check and drew the money out.

Yesterday the Harriman Bank learned that the telegram was never sent by the Denver Bank.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Sept. 5.—State Department of Agriculture and Markets: California strawberries and red raspberries today continued to arrive on the wholesale market in carlots. The fruit as a whole showed good condition. The demand was less active on strawberries and prices tended downward. Pint baskets wholesaled at 15 to 18 cents for the best. Raspberries, however, held steady, with most sales at 15 to 16 cents per half pint cup.

Big Boston lettuce from upstate New York met a prompt outlet in a firm market. Arrivals were moderate and crates of two dozen heads sold mainly at 85 cents to $1. Occasionally as high as $1.25. One year ago the finest lettuce sold at $1.50-$2.

A trifle better feeling prevailed for fancy tomatoes. Receipts were moderate. Hudson valley 12-quart baskets of No. 1 stock peddled out at 35 to 50 cents and No. 2 at 20 to 30 cents.

Demand was again quite active on peaches. Supplies were moderate and the market closed higher. Sales on Elbertas from the Hudson valley were reported at $1.25-$2.25 per bushel. Georgia Belle's brought $1.50-$2.25 and Hale's ranged from $2 to $3.50.

Offerings of New York upstate cucumbers and pickles were lighter. Values averaged a shade higher in a firmer market. Wholesale business on the finest dills was transacted at $3 a bushel basket. The best cucumbers realized $2-$2.25. On the same date one year ago the top price obtained on cucumbers was $1 per bushel and on dills $1.25.

Demand for spinach was slightly better and the market ruled steadier. Supplies were relatively light. Lettuce crates and bushel baskets jobbed out as high as $1.25 and as low as 50 cents.

Western New York fancy celery met a ready sale in the slightly firmer market. Receipts were moderate. Most of the best stock, in the rough, packed in two-thirds crates, changed hands at $2.25.

Heat Wave in Western Europe

London, Sept. 5 (AP).—Nearly all of western Europe sweltered today in a September heat wave which began at the first of the month and has shown no signs of letting up.

London temperatures bordered 90 Fahrenheit yesterday, which is a high figure at any time for this country. The figures early today were above those of corresponding periods yesterday.

Temperatures well into the nineties have been registered in Paris and other parts of France, in large sections of Germany, and even in Switzerland during the past few days, various places reporting the highest September figures in years.

Nation's Honey Production

In the United States the greater part of the honey produced is alfalfa honey from the western states, where several million dollars' worth is sold every year. Sweet clover, white sage and other mountain flowers, also contribute to the western supply. In the central states it is white clover, sweet clover, Spanish needle and heartsease honey. In the southern states, cotton, mesquite, horsemint and sweet clover, and in the eastern states, northern states and Canada, buckwheat and white clover are the leading honey flowers. Orange blossoms, cleome, aster and basswood complete the list.

Easy to Don Coat

Two men were chatting. "Why is it that Greeks and Italians can get into a coat easier than anyone else?" asked one. "I don't know," replied the careful one. "Did you ever notice the graceful overhead sweep of their arms as they slip on the coat with one complete motion?" queried the first speaker. The other admitted that he had noticed the phenomenon in question. "It's because their Roman and Grecian ancestors used that method in slipping on their togas and they haven't gotten over the idea," asserted Speaker No. 1.—Detroit News.

Ladies of Long Ago

The ladies to whom the troubadours sang had invariably hair of the color of flax, as soft as silk, and shimmering with a sheen of the finest gold. In ancient Spanish romances the hair is either of pure gold, or definitely fair. In ancient Germany, Gretchen had to have "fair hair, like gold; long, bright, and curly." There is a famous description of a French lady of the Thirteenth century. "Her hair had the brilliance of gold, and was twisted into rebellious curls"—so evidently permanent waving was known.

Tomahawk Not Indian

The tomahawk, which is sometimes considered a weapon peculiar to the American Indian, was originally a club carved into some convenient shape. It was most commonly a stout stick about three feet in length, terminating in a large knob, wherein a projecting piece of flint was often inserted. The hatchets of the Indians that are now called tomahawks are a European device and the stone hatchets so often found in our fields, called by the same term, were not military weapons but mechanical tools.

WILLIAM HAMILTON BONES IN WASHINGTON—AND ACTIVE.

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP).—William Hamilton Bones, pet goat in which Secretary Stimson and his military aide while he was governor of the Philippines, Captain Eugene A. Regnier, share an interest, has arrived in Washington although last reports had him deported from San Francisco.

Billy, for short, arrived here by freight in company with two of Regnier's mounts sent from the Philippines. The first information Secretary Stimson had of the goat's arrival, however, was in the nature of an appeal from army men at the old White House stable to "come do something about this goat".

Investigation by the secretary's office disclosed that the reference was to none other than William Hamilton Bones, thought to have been turned away from San Francisco by the department of agriculture under quarantine restrictions.

Billy had started to "clean house" when a friendly quartermaster sergeant approached him. He probably will be transferred to Mr. Stimson's new home in Washington when the secretary moves in this fall.
